Pentagon's $82 Billion OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate brushed aside an attempt Wednesday to cut an extra $1 billion from the Pentagon budget, then passed a military spending appropriation already slashed by the largest amount in history.

On a 37-55 roll-call vote, the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., that would have placed an $81 billion ceiling on the defense budget.

Then, voting 86 to 5, it approved the $82.079 billion budget written by the Senate Appropriations Committee and sent the bill to conference with the Eagleton contended that the $4.97 billion cut approved by the committee was inadequate to deal with what he called gross mismanagement and inefficiency in military weapons production and the operation of the armed services.

Appropriations Committee chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., contended that the cuts that have been made are all that can be made safely.

"The $5 billion cut we've already made is not modest and not insufficient unless we've entered into a process of disarmament where we'll be a second rate power," McClellan said.

"We're living in a world of reality," he shouted. "The dangers are real, not fancy."

Earlier, the Senate balked at cutting $150 million from the military aid budget for South Vietnam. On a narrow, 44 to 47 roll call, it beat back a strong attempt by Sen. William Proxmire. D-Wis... to set a $550 million ceiling on arms aid to the Saigon government.

Proxmire did succeed in persuading the Senate to accept his amendment limiting to 218 the number of servants allowed generals and admirals worldwide.

In other congressional action:

- The House Ways and Means Committee's efforts to compromise on a national health insurance bill stalled when the panel members split over tax and revenue issues.

- The Senate postponed until Thursday a vote on a private pension bill to guarantee that persons covered in private pension plans receive the benefits when they retire.

- A compromise proposal to give veterans attending school under the GI bill a 23 per cent increase in monthly benefits won Senate approval and was sent back to the House.

The Eagleton amendment was the big test for those attempting to limit military spending cuts to the $4.97 billion reduction voted by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Former President Richard M. Nixon had asked for $87 057 billion and the House had approved $83.4 billion. The Senate committee voted to spend $82.079 billion, and defended the reduction as necessary to help fight inflation. President Ford, however, has opposed cuts in military spending.

Eagleton said the cut was not enough either to dent inflation or to combat inefficiency and waste. For fiscal 1974, the Pentagon is operating under a $78.46-billion budget. The bill passed by the Senate for fiscal 1975 recommends a reduction of 25,000 in U.S. personnel stationed overseas and a further reduction in the total number of active duty personnel. It also accepts a House-passed reduction of 32,327 civilian Pentagon employes.

New Centrum Estimates OKd

By LYNN ZERSCHLING Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission approved revised cost estimates for the Centrum Wednesday. The action preceeds planners' scrutiny of a redevelopment plan for the project next week

The commission adopted a $7.4 million estimate for the Centrum, a project which was listed in the six-year capital improvements for $7.2 million.

The latest figures were compiled by consultants Barton-Aschman Associates, who also are preparing a redevelopment plan for the downtown block, from 11th to 12th, N to 0.

The commission will review the plan Aug. 28, 2:30 p.m , as to its conformance or nonconformance with the city-county Comprehensive Plan. The planners' recommendation will be forwarded to the City Council for final action.

Approval Expected

The lawmakers are expected to adopt the plan, an action which would then be followed by adoption of a bond ordinance authorizing the issuance of revenue bonds for the parking garage portion of the Centrum.

In other business the commission held hearings on the application of a number of operty owners in the 12th and Saunders area for a change of zone from A-2 Single Family to K Light Industry. Approximately three-square blocks of land are involved in the proposed zoning change.

Walter Lybarger, one of the applicants, urged the rezoning so homeowners could sell their properties for a reasonable price. The neighborhood is blighted now, he asserted, and is littered with shacks and, junk. except for three or four "nice homes."

neighborhood. Several other property owners opposed the change of zone.

Planning Director Doug Brogden also is urging denial of the application. Brogden believes it would create an undesirable effect to have industry located in a primarily residential area and thought the surrounding property would then decline in value. Action Set Wednesday

The commission will take action on the application Wednesday, as well as take action on Brogden's request to dezone a lot at 33rd and Sheridan Blvd. from B Two Family to A-2 Single Family.

Brogden noted that the land was zoned for duplexes in 1955 and that the lot is still vacant. Furthermore, the planning chief pointed out that all of the area within a quarter-mile radius of the lot is zoned for single family homes.

The commissioners were urged not to down-zone the land by Monsignor Clarence Crowley, pastor of the Cathedral of Risen Christ, which owns the land. The church is located at 35th and Sheridan.

He said plans call for construction of a convent on the land to house nuns who would teach in the cathedral school.

Permit Limits Cars Brogden pointed out that the church could obtain a special permit to build the convent even if the land were rezoned to A-2 Single Family. The special permit, however, requires that no more than three cars be allowed.

Father Crowley said he preferred not to go that route since, "I can't say we would only have three cars there."

Jail Revolt Leader Shot

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - Officers blasted open the Potter County Jail with explosives Wednesday, killed Darvin "Red" Meharg with a shotgun blast, and crushed a 36-hour takeover of the jail.

Two officers and a jail trusty were injured in the climax to a bid by Meharg and four other inmates to escape by taking two jail guards as hostages.

Meharg was shot as he lunged for a hostage, jail guard Stan Snitker, 32, said Potter County Attorney Kerry Knorpp. The other hostage had been freed Tuesday. Knorpp said Sheriff T. L. Baker and others negotiated with the inmates, who were armed with knives stolen from the prison kitchen, in a face-toface confrontation most of Tuesday night and Wednesday morning

When negotiations collapsed, said the county attorney, plans were made to storm the jail on the seventh and eighth floors of the courthouse.

Baker signaled at 11:43 a.m. and a door to the jail was blown open, Knorpp said.

The attorney said that as officers rushed up some stairs, Meharg reached for Snitker and was shot. The guard escaped uninjured.

Also uninjured were the four surviving inmates who sought to escape, including Meharg's girl friend, Barbara Thiel, 40. described by her mother as a reluctant participant.

Meharg, 39, who turned to crime after being fired from the Wichita Falls, Tex., police force, was described as the ringleader of the escape plot.

A woman prisoner was removed by stretcher from the jail, but it was believed she had fainted and did not suffer a wound.

About 116 other prisoners took no part in the escape attempt.

Joint Utility Operations Agreement Unveiled

Star Staff Writer

Fremont - Public power spokesmen Wednesday unveiled a major agreement on joint utility operations legislation which had sparked a bitter battle in the 1974 Unicameral.

The agreement, reached at a Nebraska Power Industry Committee meeting in Columbus Tuesday, was presented to the Legislative Council's study committee on power headed by Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook.

The committee launched the first of six outstate hearings on power problems at the Dodge County Courthouse.

According to terms of the compromise agreement, all segments of the power industry will support a bill in the 1975 Legislature which would authorize joint participation in both generation and transmission activities by public power districts, municipalities and other electric agencies. The proposed bill would authorize joint the state, and include cooperative efforts with

The proposal comes close to matching the terms of a 1974 bill, LB656, strongly supported by most municipal utilities, including the Lincoln Electric System, and by the Omaha

That measure had been opposed by the Nebraska Public Power District and rural electric districts, and died with adjournment of the 1974 session.

NPPD Assistant General Manager Homer Loutzenheiser of North Platte, speaking as chairman of the industry committee, presented the new plan to the legislative unit. "The areas of disagreement have been resolved," he said.

The proposal includes a proviso designed to allay the fears of NPPD and its rural district customers, each of whom had feared that new joint construction of transmission factilities would tend to compete with the NPPD grid system and break off some of NPPD's turn, would increase costs for remaining

The section provides that all utilities must "utilize to the fullest extent possible" already existing transmission facilities.

When disputes arose on transmission facilities, the issue would be resolved by the Nebraska Power Review Board.

Grand Island Utilities Commissioner Frank Phelps hailed the agreement as a turning point in power industry relations

"The industry has never been together in its life the way it is as of this moment." the veteran of 46 years in electric power activities

"This bill provides tremendous tools which have never been available before . . . to permit togetherness among the municipalities and other power agencies."

But. Phelps warned the senators, the measure could easily be killed in the 1975 Legislature if lawmakers begin adding amendments "to solve other problems."

Other power problems "can be tackled"

in other years, he suggested "We've got to walk before we run?

Speaking for OPPD, its legislative representative. Del Dirrim, said the agreement resulted from "honest concessions" by industry leaders and represents 'a significant step" forward future cooperation

Jesse Rogers of Tekamah, manager of the Burt County Public Power District, said "public power has been working quite well in Nebraska during the last four or five years "

Whereas, 15 years ago, he was attending two or three meetings a week, "battling back and forth" about industry disputes. Rogers said, "now we can stay home and get the work

Lack Of Books Hits Safety Blitz

By GORDON WINTERS Star Staff Writer

The campaign to "blitz" motorists with safety reminders has run out of ammunition, although more is on order, the State Department of Motor Vehicles said Wednesday.

The ammunition for the campaign was the 30,000 pamphlets printed for distribution to motorists at road checkpoints by law enforcement officers.

Maj. Claude Whitney of the State Patrol said that all the pamphlets in Patrol possession were gone by Sunday.

The blitz was scheduled to run from Aug. 15 to Aug. 24.

Michaela Callahan, administrative assistant to the motor vehicles director, said that 50,000 additional pamphlets have been ordered.

That delivery was expected Wednesday, but apparently will not be ready until Thursday, according to Patty Cook, in the motor vehicle department's administrative division.

Joint Utility Operations Agreement Unveiled

Fremont - Public power spokesmen Wednesday unveiled a major agreement on joint utility operations legislation which had sparked a bitter battle in the 1974 Unicameral.

By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer

The agreement, reached at a Nebraska Power Industry Committee meeting in Columbus Tuesday, was presented to the Legislative Council's study committee on power headed by Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook.

The committee launched the first of six outstate hearings on power problems at the Dodge County Courthouse.

According to terms of the compromise agreement, all segments of the power industry will support a bill in the 1975 Legislature which would authorize joint participation in both generation and transmission activities by public power districts, municipalities and other electric agencies.

The proposed bill would authorize joint activities both within Nebraska and outside private utilities in other states. The proposal comes close to matching the terms of a 1974 bill, LB656, strongly supported by most municipal utilities, including the Lin-Public Power District.

That measure had been opposed by the Nebraska Public Power District and rural electric districts, and died with adjournment of the 1974 session.

'The areas of disagreement have been resolved," he said. The proposal includes a proviso designed to allay the fears of NPPD and its rural district customers, each of whom had feared that new joint construction of transmission factilities would tend to compete with the NPPD grid system and break off some of NPPD's major wholesale power customers. That, in turn, would increase costs for remaining customers. The section provides that all utilities must

"utilize to the fullest extent possible" already existing transmission facilities. When disputes arose on transmission facilities, the issue would be resolved by the Nebraska Power Review Board. Grand Island Utilities Commissioner Frank Phelps hailed the agreement as a turning point in power industry relations. "The industry has never been together in its life the way it is as of this moment," the

in other years, he suggested. "We've got to walk before we run.

Speaking for OPPD, its legislative representative, Del Dirrim, said the agreement resulted from "honest concessions" by industry leaders and represents "a significant step" forward future cooperation.

Jesse Rogers of Tekamah, manager of the Burt County Public Power District, said "public power has been working quite well in Nebraska during the last four or five years."

Ford Signs Bill;

Washington (UPI) - President Ford Wednesday signed a $25.4 billion education bill containing new curbs on school busing and safeguards on the privacy of pupil records.

The bill extends basic federal aid to education programs for another four years. In addition to the busing curbs it has language to protect pupil records from misuse by law enforcement officials, credit bureaus or ner outside parties.

The law provides that a student may not be bused beyond the next nearest school district unless a court determines otherwise. "In general." Ford said on that score, "I am opposed to the forced busing of school children because it does not lead to better education and it infringes upon traditional freedoms in America.'

"I believe that all school districts, North and South, East and West, should be able to adopt reasonable plans and just plans for desegregation which will not result in children being bused from their neighborhoods."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford served notice Wednesday that he probably will run in 1976 for a full term in the job he has held only 13

Thus he reversed the intentions he had expressed when he was vice president, namely that he could not envision being on the Republican ticket under any circumstances.

But "his view has changed," said presidential press secretary Jerald F. terHorst. "He probably will run."

TerHorst said "there is no precise agreement" as to whether Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller would be retained as Ford's running mate. But that should not be taken as any notion to drop Rockefeller when the President seeks an elective term, he added.

Ford later talked directly with reporters on the South Lawn of the White House after a freewheeling day that kept him on the move to several points around Washington, including the Capitol.

But he smilingly declined to repeat his press secretary's remarks. At first he said "Well, I think Gov. Rockefeller well expressed that yesterday."

Rockefeller had disclosed Tuesday, the day he was nominated, that he thought Ford had "every intention" of making the race. "That was my impresion, that's what I urged, that's my assumption," Rockefeller said.

When Ford was prodded again to make his own statement, he laughed and said, "I want you to worry about that."

The official confirmation from terHorst prompted an immediate response from Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss: "I think this. That instead of playing 1976 politics, this administration better be doing and should be doing what all Americans should be doing, which is worrying about solving some of the 1974 problems."

TerHorst said that it "did not seem appropriate" for a man being considered for vice president to talk of running for the presidency. 'Now his position has changed. Therefore his view has changed."

TerHorst's announcement came on a day of intense presidential activity, including courtesy calls at the House and Senate, the signing of a $25 billion education bill in ceremonies at the Depart-

Ford said in his informal appearance before the Senate that he had come to demonstrate "the official inauguration of Pennsylvania Avenue as a two-way street" between the Capitol and the White House. It didn't matter, he said, that they will not always be on the same side of legislative issues. "It only matters that we end up on the best side for America." In the House, Ford spoke from the position he used to sit in as minority leader, below the rostrum where presidents usually speak. "After 10 days of our honeymoon and recalling the old adage 'Out of sight, out of mind,' I just wanted to drop in my old home and say hello," Ford declared. Earlier Wednesday, Ford went to Andrews Air Force Base, where the body of Ambassador Davies, accompanied by the diplomat's son and daughter, came home aboard a presidential jetliner. Davies was shot to death Monday by a greek Cypriot mob which attacked the U.S. Embassy at Nicosia.

"He loved and worked for peace and he lost his life in search for peace for America and for all the world," Ford said in his eulogy.

The President and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met Ann Dana Davies, 20, and her brother John, 15, when they stepped from the blue, white and silver jetliner, then stood at their side as a black-uniformed military band plaved the National Anthem and a battery of howitzers boomed 19 salutes.

Ford also met at the White House with the congressional Black Caucus and assured them he was considering its proposals for a new public service program to stem unemployment. Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., is asking that one million jobs be created at a cost of $10 billion.

Hawkins said the President offered no specific commitment, but said he was highly concerned about unemployment and "we should apply the medicine where the problems exist."

Stanley Scott, a black special assistant to the President, said Ford had ordered him to act as liaison with the Black Caucus and promised him direct access to the Oval Office.

Tennessee Car Crash Kills Legendary Sheriff

WRECKAGE . . . shows where the famous sheriff Pusser died.

ADAMSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Buford Pusser, the sheriff who became a legend because of his crime-fighting exploits and brushes with death, died early Wednesday in a car crash in the county he tried to tame.

Pusser's exploits as sheriff served as the basis for the movie "Walking Tall," which grossed $50 million in 14 months.

The one-car crash on U.S. 64 near his McNairy County home town occurred hours after Pusser, 36, told a news conference in Memphis he would play himself in a sequel to "Walking Tall."

Trooper Paul Ervin of the Tennessee Highway Patrol, said, "There was no evidence of foul play, as far as I could determine."

He said Pusser was killed, apparently instantly, when his sportscar left the highway and struck an embankment, throwing him from the vehicle, which burned.

Pusser had attended a fair at Selmer, Tenn., and was returning home when the car crashed at 12:55 a.m., Ervin said.

One of his three children, daughter Dwanna, 13, was following Pusser in a second car filled with young people and witnessed the accident.

"There was no apparent reason for the accident that I could find," Ervin said. "I don't know if there was a tire blowout or not. I couldn't tell from the burned car."

Ervin, who arrived shortly after the accident, said the car was impounded for investigation.

"No, I'm not anxious to be a movie star,"

Pusser told a writer after his news conference
Tuesday. "The idea scares me some. I'm just a trial.

Price Boost Didn't Hike Oil Output

. . . Says GAO

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision to permit a $1 per barrel price increase in crude oil has not boosted crude oil production, the General Accounting Office (GAO) has concluded after an eight-month study.

The price hike, announced last December by the Nixon administration, was designed to increase oil production.

"This new report reveals that administration officials who made the price increase decision on Dec. 18 knew full well that there was no evidence to show that substantial higher prices would stimulate great greater oil production," said Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., who asked for the study.

According to the GAO report, then-Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz made the decision last December as chairman of the Cost of Living Council (CLC).

"As far as we can determine, only one outside consultant was used in support of the decision to raise the price of oil," the GAO said. "

The outside consultant was Stanford Research Institute, the GAO said.

The Stanford report cited four reasons for allowing the price hike: to reduce demand, to increase supply by providing production-exploration incentives, to discourage exports by approaching the world price and to give producers a fairer share of petroleum profits.

Authorities said they were sure Kurbegovic was "Isaac Rasim," the man who spoke with a heavy accent and made a series of telephone calls and tape recordings claiming responsibility for the airport bombing and threatening to set off other bombs.

In his messages, Rasim said he was the military leader of an organization he called Aliens of America. He was dubbed the alphabet bomber after threatening to spell out the group's name "in blood" unless certain immigration and sex laws were repealed.

Amnesty Emotions Still Run High

As evidence of his policy aimed at national reconciliation, President Ford this week departed from the hard line against amnesty adhered to by his predecessor and said he would like to see the draft evaders of the Vietnam era work their way home. Support of conditional amnesty is indeed a welcome change in White House thinking.

Unconditional amnesty would be wrong. Ford said, but "in my judgment, these young Americans should have a second chance to contribute their fair share to the rebuilding of peace among ourselves and with all nations. So I am throwing the weight of my presidency into the scales of justice on the side of leniency I foresee their earned re-entry into a new atmosphere of hope, hard work and mutual

It was appropriate that Ford chose to outline his amnesty position to delegates assembled for a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention. It was an act of some political

The response to Ford's amnesty "feeler," however, indicates that old, deep wounds will not be quickly healed by shifts in administration policy and it serves as a measure of the task facing the new presi-

The day after Ford's speech, the VFW passed two resolutions sustaining "total opposition to general and selective amnesty for draft dodgers and military deserters and that they should be required to stand trial for their crimes and shall pay such penalties upon conviction as laws prescribe" and that members will continue "total commitment to pursue their 'no amnesty' doctrine through our membership to congressmen and to the American people and to be firm in our stand not to relinquish, dilute or compromise this position."

And on the other side, spokesmen for two of the leading pro-amnesty organizations said that conditional amnesty or "earned immunity" proposals are out of the question and that universal (blanket) amnesty is the only just position.

Thus those holding the extreme views continue to hold them in the face of presidential moderation. Hopefully, the great middle ground of American opinion will embrace the president's healing efforts and will recognize that compromise and open minds are necessary to put a number of national nightmares well behind us. The President can take the lead in promoting national reconciliation, but he can't insure it. Good will, sincere efforts toward understanding and the willingness to accept workable solutions on the part of all Americans, no matter what their personal persuasions, are the only ingredients which will bring the healing process to a successful conclusion.

Gambling's Double Standard

Fearing felony prosecution for gambling, the owner of a local billiards emporium last year shut down that part of his operation in which he allowed such games as chess, bridge or poker to be played for stakes. He then initiated a lawsuit to determine what is and what is not gambling under the law.

If skill is a dominant factor in such games — and they contend that it is — then gambling in violation of the law is not involved, the businessman's lawyers contend. But, argues the state, wagering on the outcome of a game, regardless of whether it is decided by skill or luck, is gambling and thus a violation of Nebraska law.

Not wishing to second-guess the court, we still would imagine that a "gambling is gambling is gambling" rule might naturally evolve from such a legal dispute.

Another interesting point is raised in the lawsuit, however And that is the plaintiff's contention that people should be allowed to play these games even if they can't afford to belong to one of the "socially elite" clubs, such as the country clubs or fraternal or social organizations, which "somehow are protected from prosecution."

It is well beyond dispute that in Lincoln, as in most other places, gambling behind the closed doors of private clubs is ignored by the powers that be. Whether or not a person is guilty of gambling largely depends on where the action is - the physical location of the game. It matters little that those clubs are not exempted by

That is the way it is but not the way it should be. If people can live with that, they live with hypocrisy as well.

World Guard Changes

been symbols of America here and elsewhere in the world, but now they are seen in a new political context, and a critical period of adjustment is opening up both in Europe and America

With the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president in the United States, the changing of the political guard is all but complete in the free world. Now the new governments in Washington, London, Paris, Bonn and Tokyo will have to decide whether to tackle the urgent questions of inflation, energy, food and military security together, or whether to try to deal with them separately.

This question of finding common policies, or at least avoiding conflicting policies, is still a delicate subject here and elsewhere in Europe, but the changing of the political guard on both sides of the Atlantic has produced a much better atmosphere than existed only a few short months ago.

It was an extraordinary and fortunate accident of European politics that Valery Giscard d'Estaing, Helmut Schmidt and Harold Wilson came to the leadership of their countries -Giscard after the death of President Georges Pompidou. Schmidt after an unexpected scandal in Chancellor Willy Brandt's administration, and Wilson after the Labor crisis in Britain

Prime Minister Wilson is also an expert in these fields, but like Premier Kakuei Tanaka in Japan, he has been preoccupied with a raging inflation and the prospect of a bruising election. Meanwhile, the United States government has also been overwhelmed by its domestic concerns, and like the others, with the Cyprus crisis.

There is still some criticism here of Secretary of State Kissinger's diplomatic tactics, and most recently of his handling of the Cyprus affair, but no longer complaints of any lack of consultation between Washington and its European

The complaint here against Kissinger in the past was that he intervened too much in European and Middle Eastern affairs The complaint now is that he did not intervene fast enough in Cyprus, and by his tardiness encouraged the Turks to the Atlantic Alliance in the Eastern Mediterranean

Still, the clash of personalities, between Kissinger and the former French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert, and between Wilson and Pompidou, which complicated European and trans-Atlantic relations, has been eased if not removed. What the alhes needed a year ago was a hearing aid, now they are finally listening to each other.

The testimony of responsible officials in Paris is that the negotiations among the European Nine are much more canty from Portugal to Greece and Turkey, but the attitude of the main powers toward each other

President Ford has made an excellent impression here by his candor, by his defense of a strong American military establishment, and by his willingness to appoint experienced men like Rockefeller

Officials here have the impression that there are differences between Secretary Kissinger and Secretary of Defense James R. WASHINGTON - President Ford's nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president completes a reversal of national political tides of potentially historic proportions. Ten days ago, politicians were asking whether the Republican Party could survive; today, they were asking how the Democrats were going to mount a challenge in

Ford, as an admiring if somewhat staggered Democrat said, "hasn't made a wrong

In the narrowest political sense, and in the shortest perspective, Rockefeller's designation will be welcomed by Republicans seeking election or re-election this fall because of his zest and tirelessness as a campaigner.

He can work a crowd, eat a knish (or a hot dog or a pizza), sparkle on the banquet circuit and raise money - and he is expected to do so for anyone who wants him.

Suddenly, instead of looking forward to a campaign in which Watergate would haunt them and the personal unpopularity of Richard M Nixon would weigh them down, Republican officeseekers can identify themselves with a popular new President, a pervasive spirit of renewal and candor in the capital and a politically dynamic vice president-designate

Not that the Republicans are without liabilities; inflation and economic stagnation, together with whatever aura of Watergate may linger over the party, could still cost them congressional seats in November. But where the Democrats were once talking of gaining as many as 100 seats in the 435-member House of Representatives, the more savvy professionals are now estimating a gain of about 15 or 20.

☆ ☆ ☆ In a larger sense, Ford has signalled that he is not interested in a narrowly ideological party.

Historically, insistence on ideological homogeneity has been a disaster for American political parties, as the Republican campaign of 1964 and the Democratic campaign of 1972 vividly demonstrated

Some politicians had expected Ford to cling, in his policies and personnel, to the rather conventional Midwestern conservatism he had exhibited in the House.

☆ ☆ ☆ Rockefeller, who had often spoken disdainfully of the vice presidency, has, in accepting it now, apparently concluded that he will reach the presidency only in the event that Ford is unable to complete a term.

He himself said that he believes Ford will run again in 1976, telling reporters: "He has every intention of it. That was my impression, that's what I urged, that's my assumption."

By 1980, he will be 72, far too old to run then.

Precisely what Rockefeller's role in the Ford administration will be has apparently not yet been decided.

But it will surprise most Washington observers if he does not take a substantial role in foreign policy, especially as it affects Latin America, which has engaged his interest for decades. He is expected to travel exten-

Washington has long since grown accustomed to the spectacle of politicians with clout -Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey, for example wilting in the vice-presidency for lack of power and responsibility.

Rockefeller himself said a bit

"I am fully cognizant of the fact that the responsibilities of the vice president are to preside over the Senate of the United States and otherwise to carry out any assignment that he or she may receive from the president."

But at least on the day of his designation, the ebullient former governor cut quite a swath through the politics of Washington and of the nation beyond.

The morning is cloudy and cool with reports of flash-flooding within five miles north of our place and heavy rains five miles south of our area What did we get? Nothing! The sniff of fresh rain and the good, clean air smell was delightful last evening and continues to be this morning. Now all we need is another cloud filled with rain to sail over our town and rural countryside.

As one neighbor lady said, we have never had enough rain all summer to close the cracks in the ground. To top that one, I read in a state paper that one man who studies weather says we are in for a two-hundred-year dry spell. Of course I won't have to worry about that but it always seems when the trend is toward a particular kind of weather, someone always comes up with facts and their figures to substantiate their findings.

It was only two years ago some fellow said the entire Midwest would become a lake tapering down into the Gulf of Mexico. His predictions came to light after the rains came and came and came and we were so soggy wet, we thought our boots would never dry out.

How can we have both a lake-land and a drought? I suppose it really doesn't matter as none of us will be here to check on the outcome and yell brave to the one whose predictions come true. At any rate, I am not going to build my ark nor am I going to begin making my tent for desert life. I am not on speaking terms with any rain or sun gods so my wee voice would fall on deaf ears to please turn off the rain or drying sun rays. No one near has a crystal ball nor is our community populated with witches and their witchcraft. That leaves me with few alternatives. I'll tie a big red onion to my bedpost at might and that will keep my mind off my troubles . . . be it wet or dry. ☆ ☆ ☆

I have just answered a knock on the door. A salesman wanted to see The Farmer to take an order for seed corn next year. I told him to look by east of our place and he would perhaps have the answer that The Farmer would give him.

Amnesty Emotions Still Run High

As evidence of his policy aimed at national reconciliation, President Ford this week departed from the hard line against amnesty adhered to by his predecessor and said he would like to see the draft evaders of the Vietnam era work their way home. Support of conditional amnesty is indeed a welcome change in White House thinking.

Unconditional amnesty would be wrong, Ford said, but "in my judgment, these young Americans should have a second chance to contribute their fair share to the rebuilding of peace among ourselves and with all nations. So I am throwing the weight of my presidency into the scales of justice on the side of leniency. I foresee their earned re-entry into a new atmosphere of hope, hard work and mutual trust.'

It was appropriate that Ford chose to outline his amnesty position to delegates assembled for a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention. It was an act of some political courage.

The response to Ford's amnesty "feeler," however, indicates that old, deep wounds will not be quickly healed by shifts in administration policy and it serves as a measure of the task facing the new president.

The day after Ford's speech, the VFW passed two resolutions sustaining "total opposition to general and selective amnesty for draft dodgers and military deserters and that they should be required to stand trial for their crimes and shall pay such penalties upon conviction as laws prescribe" and that members will continue "total commitment to pursue their 'no amnesty' doctrine through our membership to congressmen and to the American people and to be firm in our stand not to relinquish, dilute or compromise this position."

And on the other side, spokesmen for two of the leading pro-amnesty organizations said that conditional amnesty or "earned immunity" proposals are out of the question and that universal (blanket) amnesty is the only just position.

Thus those holding the extreme views continue to hold them in the face of presidential moderation. Hopefully, the great middle ground of American opinion will embrace the president's healing efforts and will recognize that compromise and open minds are necessary to put a number of national nightmares well behind us. The President can take the lead in promoting national reconciliation, but he can't insure it. Good will, sincere efforts toward understanding and the willingness to accept workable solutions on the part of all Americans, no matter what their personal persuasions, are the only ingredients which will bring the healing process to a successful conclusion.

Fearing felony prosecution for gambling, the owner of a local billiards emporium last year shut down that part of his operation in which he allowed such games as chess, bridge or poker to be played for stakes. He then initiated a lawsuit to determine what is and what is not gambling under the law.

If skill is a dominant factor in such games — and they contend that it is — then gambling in violation of the law is not involved, the businessman's lawyers contend. But, argues the state, wagering on the outcome of a game, regardless of whether it is decided by skill or luck, is gambling and thus a violation of Nebraska law.

Not wishing to second-guess the court, we still would imagine that a "gambling is gambling is gambling" rule might naturally evolve from such a legal dispute.

WASHINGTON - President Ford's nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president completes a reversal of national political tides of potentially historic proportions. Ten days ago, politicians were asking whether the Republican Party could survive; today, they were asking how the Democrats were going to mount a challenge in

Ford, as an admiring if somewhat staggered Democrat said, "hasn't made a wrong move yet."

In the narrowest political sense, and in the shortest perspective, Rockefeller's designation will be welcomed by Republicans seeking election or re-election this fall because of his zest and tirelessness as a campaigner.

He can work a crowd, eat a knish (or a hot dog or a pizza), sparkle on the banquet circuit and raise money - and he is expected to do so for anyone who wants him.

Suddenly, instead of looking forward to a campaign in which Watergate would haunt them and the personal unpopularity of Richard M. Nixon would weigh them down. Republican officeseekers can identify themselves with a popular new President, a pervasive spirit of renewal and candor in the capital and a politically dynamic vice president-designate.

Not that the Republicans are without liabilities; inflation and economic stagnation, together with whatever aura of Watergate may linger over the party, could still cost them congressional seats in November. But where the Democrats were once talking of gaining as many as 100 seats in the 435-member House of Representatives, the more savvy professionals are now estimating a gain of about 15 or 20. ☆ ☆ ☆

In a larger sense, Ford has signalled that he is not interested in a narrowly ideological party.

Historically, insistence on ideological homogeneity has been a disaster for American political parties, as the Republican campaign of 1964 and the Democratic campaign of 1972 vividly demonstrated.

Some politicians had expected Ford to cling, in his policies and personnel, to the rather conventional Midwestern conservatism he had exhibited in the House. But by some of his early policy decisions (notably his declara- years, and many Republican conservatives have forgotten the tumultuous struggles of the nineteen-sixties. Moreover, most of them are eager to rebuild their party, which has lost adherents steadily during the long Watergate nightmare.

"I can't believe," said Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the conservative leader of the Republican minority in the House, "that conservative Republicans feel broadening the base of the party is a bad thing - unless they want to keep on losing and remain a minority. Among Democrats, who with the prospect of trying to defeat a Ford-Rockefeller ticket in 1976, there was little question that Ford had made an intelligent political decision. "Well, that saves us a lot of

He was overstating the case, of course — a Ford-Rockefeller ticket would be far from unbeatable — but his hyperbole reflected the generally held Democratic view that such a ticket would be formidable. This despite the Republicans' minority status and the inevitable end to the "honeymoon" phase of the Ford presidency.

And it means a long wait for others who had thought of running in 1976, such as former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois.

Rockefeller and Ford are a classic political match, reminiscent of the pairing of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson in 1960. Western Nebraska leaders were Centurk, Scout 66, Buckskin, HiPlains and Sage. Between the first and last mentioned variety, there was only a three-bushel difference, so they really performed equally well, said Mills.

Miss Craig Commissioned As Missionary

St. Paul - J. Ann Craig, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John O. Craig Jr. of St. Paul, this week was commissioned a two-year missionary of the Board of Discipleship of the United Methodist Church. A spring graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Miss Craig will be working in an ecumenical student movement in the chaplaincy program of Mary Washington College in Fredricksburg, Va. The Rev. Mr. Craig is pastor of the United Methodist parish of St. Paul, Wolbach and Fairdale of the Nebraska conference. The commissioning services were held at the St. Paul School of Theology in Kansas City.

Brothers' Will To Benefit Fair Building

Chadron - A $64,000 contribution from the late Joseph and Leo Vetter will aid in renovating an old building on the Dawes County fairgrounds here. Earl Henkens, president of the Dawes County Agricultural Society, said the funds were part of the estate of the two brothers who ranched and farmed south of Whitney. The money had been earmarked by the two men in their wills for use specifically to replace an old tin building used during the fair for space for displays, and for the storage and grooming of 4-H animals.

Fluoridation Issue On Falls City Ballot

Falls City (AP) - Falls City will join the growing ranks of Nebraska communities putting a water fluoridation issue on the November ballot. A petition signed by 983 persons has been presented to the City Council. The municipal government, exercising its option on the fluoridation issue, has accepted the petition. Unless rejected by the voters, all communities in the state will be required to have their water supplies fluoridated by Jan. 1, 1975.

Plant Closing Idles 60

Scottsbluff (AP) - Sixty men are out of work here as a result of the closing of the Scottsbluff Packing Co. Richard Corey, president of the firm, said it closed because of the declining cattle market. He would not speculate on when the plant might reopen, but said he is negotiating with another firm in an effort to continue operations. The plant was closed when a contract with Swift and Co. of Gering was lost, Corey said. The acting manager of Swifts, Lindsey Horn, said the contract was discontinued because Swifts no longer required the auxiliary slaughtering operation in Scottsbluff.

Persons Orchard (AP) - Three persons lost their lives and another was seriously injured in a cartruck crash near here early Wednesday, according to the State Patrol.

The dead were identified by the patrol as Marion Padgett, 47, of Foster; his wife, Elizabeth, 44; and Brenda Robinson, 12, also of Foster.

Hospitalized in serious condition at O'Neill was the couple's daughter, Judy Padgett.

The accident occured a half mile west of Orchard in Antelope County on U.S. 20 when the truck apparently struck the rear of a car, the patrol reported. Both vehicles were eastbound at the time.

The dead were all riding in the car, according to the patrol. Officers said it had not been determined who was driving the car. The patrol said the truck was driven by Melvin Carr, 38, of Atkinson, who escaped unhurt. Officers said Mrs. Padgett was pinned in the wreckage for a time. Three persons riding in the car were thrown out by the impact, the patrol reported.

The deaths brought the 1974 Nebraska highway traffic fatality toll to 244, compared to 251 at the same time last year.

Omaha Robbery Victim Dies

Omaha (AP) - A 76-year-old parking lot attendant shot nearly a month ago in a robbery attempt died Tuesday.

Saul Spracklin had suffered two gunshot wounds, one to the throat and one to the face. He was shot July 22 at a downtown parking lot.

Police are seeking two suspects, described as being black males in their early 20s.

harvested earlier than usual this year leaves the land open for a fall-seeded cover or grain crop, specifically winter wheat.

Reports from the NU Foundation Seed Division show heavy buying in winter wheat sales. Division manager Dick Mills said, "The big items moving are the winter wheat varieties. Demand for winter wheat seed is up and anyone interested in

> 'Variety-wise, the interest is in the newer wheat varieties -Buckskin, Homestead, HiPlains, Sentinel and Sage," Mills said. "The demand is also very high for Centurk, Scout 66 and Gage wheat. We hope we have enough Foundation seed of all of these varieties, but with the current demand, the supply may fall

Mills revealed the 1974 performance of the wheat varieties

mentioned earlier. He explained, "The results of the out-state test performance trials indicate excellent performance of all of these varieties generally depending on the area of adaptability and recommendation. No one variety can be recommended to fit all conditions. Disease and insect resistance, high yield, stan-dability, drought tolerance, high test weight and winter hardiness are not achieved in any one variety.

increased the quarterly dividend Oct. 1, 1974, to holders of record on its common stock to 42 cents Sept. 13.

"Each variety has its special factor in performance making it do better under a special set of conditions. A farmer has to know his own farming situation and pick the variety with the factors that will give him the highest possible yield potential," he said.

Breaking it down into areas. Mills said Sage, Buckskin, Homestead, Scout 66, Centurk, and Gage performed well in the southeast area of the state. In the south central area, Sage led all varieties, followed by Centurk, Scoutland, Sentinel and Homestead.

In the central part, Sage, Centurk and Scoutland were high yielders followed very closely by Scout 66, Buckskin, Sentinel and HiPlains. In the southwest, Centurk, Scout 66, Buckskin and Sage were on the top four varieties, according to Mills; however, Scoutland and Sentinel were only one bushel behind Sage in yield.

Western Nebraska leaders were Centurk, Scout 66, Buckskin, HiPlains and Sage. Between the first and last mentioned variety, there was only a three-bushel difference, so they really performed equally well, said Mills.

38 Counties Ask Drought Relief Funds

Gov. J. James Exon announced Wednesday a total of 38 counties have requested drought relief under the disaster proclamation he issued on July Exon said all of the requests have been forwarded to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mutilated Cow Found At Raymond

The epidemic of cow mutilations continued in Nebraska with the discovery of another dead animal, this time near Raymond, Lancaster County Deputy Sheriff Rod Loos said Wednesday evening. Loos said the animal was found on the Leonard Buresh farm and was one of 46 cattle he Continuing in the past pattern, the animal was black and the anus and female sex organs had been cut out. There was no evidence of any other part of the animal being removed. Loos said no tracks were found near the carcass and neither Buresh or any of the neighbors reported hearing any helicopters or aircraft in the area Buresh said he last checked his herd Monday night. Judging by the advanced state of decomposition the animal was killed that same night. Buresh said he discovered the dead animal late Wednesday afternoon. At current market prices, Buresh placed the animal's value at almost $200. The carcass was found in a shallow ravine less than 100 vards from a gravel county road. Buresh said the heifer was quite tame and could easily have been approached. As usual, Loos said, no sign of how the animal was killed was found.

"I wish farmers would check their cattle closer so we could get a fresh carcass," Loos said, so that an autopsy could be performed to find out how the animals are killed.

Striking a chord for local leadership, Whelan told members of the Hastings Area Chamber of Commerce, "Devotion to the community is needed as much as devotion to the state or nation; it's easy to be patriotic, but tougher to be a true patriot to the city and south central Nebraska."

Your Car Can Tell You When It's Time For Repairs

Clacking, grinding, growling, howling, groaning, squealing and roaring all may indicate automobile problems to a mechanic's trained ear.

Local mechanics advise motorists to be aware of all unusual automobile sounds so that checks and repairs can be made before any major damage occurs

Of course, not every little squeak indicates that disaster is about to follow. For example, "a squeak in the chassis does not always mean that something is wrong," said Bill Munn of Melichar-Munn Phillip's 66 service station

"Sometimes a lube job will do it," he added, "but sometimes you just have to live with it

"It is more a nuisance than anything else" Nevertheless, if your car is sounding a bit peculiar and you're in doubt, the best policy is to have it

Among the less serious disorders and their symptoms, as described by car maintainance experts, are worn brake linings - which are indicated by the grinding sound of metal against metal when the brakes are applied, a growling sound telling you that you might have faulty power steering, and a squealing fan belt, which means the belt is "glazed up" and needs to be

There are several noisy auto malfunctions which can cost the car owner plenty, if not repaired im-short mileage — up to eight or 10 nules. But after that, a number of things can happen.

"If the valve is collapsed enough, the push rod will jump out." "Any knocking noise could be serious when it comes from the engine," Munn pointed out, "and you shouldn't drive your car, because it could ruin the

According to Harre, a deep knock indicates that you have a connecting rod or main bearing problems, and if you continue driving, your "engine will fly apart" right before your eyes

And that spells M-O-N-E-Y

"A groan or whine from the engine area could mean that you are losing a water pump," Harre noted "This should be repaired immediately

A similar sound could also indicate that the alternator is failing, said Munn. In any case, there will be no warning light among the interior gauges, he added, so it is wise to attune your ears to the sound of a smooth running engine

On the other hand, "sometimes when a car is real hot, the radiator will pop and bang, but a red warning light will come on," Munn continued

"If the oil or heat light comes on, get over and get it fixed," he warned "Some people will just keep driving.

Munn also stressed that when a car becomes overheated, the motorist should "give the car one-half hour to cool and then very carefully remove the radiator cap

"Even then, you should lower the hood so that it is between your face and the radiator when you remove the cap" This way there is no danger of extremely hot water spraying up in your face and eyes

There are several noisy symptoms of rear end

If you are driving and hear a clunking sound when changing gears, your universal joints need to be checked and serviced And a rumble from the rear end is a sign that the rear axle bearings are worn Also, a whine from the differential, which is located at the rear of the car, is an indication that new ring gear and a pinion are needed

However, there are few of us who are expert car mechanics, so the best insurance against unnecessary costly repair bills, is to select a reliable service station or garage where periodic checks can be made on your car's performance

'So many people know nothing about their cars, said Gene Melichar, also of Melichar-Munn Phillips 66 "So they should have one good station, where they can regularly do business and where their cars will be taken care of '

"Many people shop for the cheapest gas," added Munn, "and then when something goes wrong, they have no one to go to

Also, as an added precaution, when you go to a service station, ask the attendant to check things like the oil and battery water, Munn said "It doesn't cost anything to have this done "

"Tender Loving Greed"

If you have the patience to wade through it, Mary Adelaide Mendelson's "Tender Loving Greed" (Knopf) is worth the reading.

Subtitled "How The Incredibly Lucrative Nursing Home 'Industry' Is Exploiting America's Old People and Defrauding Us All," it is the end product of 10 years of "intensive research" on the part of the

Mrs. Mendelson came well-qualified to her work. A member of the Nursing Home Project of the Ohio Department of Health, and the Cleveland Mayor's Commission on Aging, she has been called upon numerous times to testify before, and otherwise assist, Senate and Congressional Committees concerned with the area of nursing home care.

By the author's own admission, "Tender Loving Greed" is not a people-oriented book. She has relatively little to say about the people who make up the population in the 23,000 nursing homes in this country; about the horrors to which they are subjected in some places - horrors which have been uncovered and made public elsewhere.

Rather, she is primarily concerned with the financial and legal manipulations that define what she calls the "nursing home hustle."

The theme of her expose is stated early on. She has, she says, set out to detail a "national scandal in which greedy nursing home operators are getting rich by exploiting helpless patients and extracting huge sums from governments — state and federal — that do not seem to care either about the patients or the taxpayers.'

Although Mrs. Mendelson does state that not all nursing homes are guilty of the "dubious business practices" she has uncovered, she goes on, "Excellent homes are rare, and most of those that are considered good are good only by comparison to the majority that

The list of abuses which, in her opinion, go on every day across the country, is seemingly endless. She cites case after case in which nursing home operators have bilked the government out of millions of dollars in Medicare and Medicaid payments.

She reveals examples of collusion between nursing home operators and pharamicists; nursing home operators and doctors. "Kickbacks" is the word for it. Calling such practices "nickel-and-dime swindles," she estimates that they cost taxpayers and relatives of nursing home patients $800 million a year.

The author has also devoted a section of her book to the big-time operators - the nursing home profiteers, the financial manipulators whose maneuverings have to do with tax dodges and nefarious real estate transactions.

She takes on the "newest form of the nursing home hustle" - the publicly-owned nursing home chains; and she debunks the myth of the "non-profit" nursing home.

These abuses are allowed to continue. Mrs. Mendelson says, because the regulatory agencies charged with keeping nursing homes in line, have shirked their responsibility; or, even worse, been participants in the graft.

"Government has failed us at all levels. At the lowest level, it is the caseworker who continues to send patients to a nursing home where she knows they will be beaten and starved, because, when Christmas rolls around, the operator will give her a fur coat . . . At the other extreme, the failure is in state and federal regulators, and the elected officials who appoint them, who refuse to hear the truth about the scandalous state of the industry . . . "

The remedy for all this is not higher nursing home rates, Mrs. Mendelson believes. They bring only higher profits — not better care.

It is not the passage of more regulatory laws. There are laws enough, she says, and "more laws will simply produce more governmental lawlessness.

It is not better-trained nursing home inspectors. No amount of training can instill in such people a genuine concern for the nursing home patient.

"... we come around finally to ourselves," Mrs. Mendelson says in describing the only workable remedy she envisions. "Us," "the Public," "we the people," who must inform ourselves and then apply the pressure that is required to get the machinery of government regulation moving.

As she says, the nursing home bandits are doing more than stealing tax dollars. "Behind the thievery and the corruption that this book describes is the physical reality of the stinking nursing homes in which our old people are dying a living death — and that is why, above all, the swindling should matter to us."

New First Lady Has 'A Casual Elegance'

Washington - The new First Lady's fashion adviser, Frankie Welch, calls herself "a good friend, a dress shop owner, not a designer," who gives Mrs. Ford the same kind of advice all her customers receive free of charge.

For the past 12 years Frankie has kept a record of Mrs. Ford's likes and dislikes. What she has in her closet, the sizes, colors. and whose clothes she seems to favor.

When Mrs. Ford got the word of President Nixon's impending resignation and went out to greet reporters in front of the Fords' Alexandria, Va., home, she was wearing a Frankie Welch shirtwaist of supima cotton printed with the flowers of the 50 states.

"Ironically, she was supposed to come to the shop that day," says Frankie. Assembled there for her approval were sketches for her, fall wardrobe complete with fabric swatches from Halston, Kasper, Geoffrey Beene, Oscar De La Renta, and Gloria Sachs. All American designers.

"She seems to have more Kaspers in her closet," Mrs. Welch discovered, looking through her record cards.

The First Lady — a size 6 — has a finely honed style sense. She was once a model and dancer, and has the gracefulness and the posture that makes what she wears even more attractive. "She knows what she wants. I would say she leans toward casual elegance."

It is a Frankie Welch dress made by Japanese-born seamstress Mrs. Mariko Marshall in which Mrs. Ford had her portrait painted recently. The lime green China silk was brought back when the Fords returned

During the 16 years the Frankie Welch shop has been in Alexandria, Mrs. Welch, who is known nationally for her prints, has made a point of maintaining a bi-partisan approach with the congressional wives who make up a large part of her clientele.

During campaigns she has not only designed prints and scarves for the Democratic and Republican parties, but has also come up with a Congressional seal scarf that members of the House and Senate buy and then sign with their own names for special gifts.

Mrs. Welch has achieved fame for her Cherokee alphabet print that has been made into large silk scarves that have been framed and hung in many U.S. Embassies throughout the world.

When she launched her book, "Indian Jewelry" (Mrs. Welch is one-sixteenth Cherokee), the party was attended by Mrs. Ford, who wore one of Frankie's Indian jewelry adaptations.

According to Mrs. Welch, the First Lady has two color palette preferences. There are the "brights" like the turquoise, green and peach she enjoys wearing at night, and the "pales." Somewhere in there, too, is a leaning toward navy blue and brown.

Mrs. Ford has been ahead of fashion where many women have been concerned. She believed in wearing capes as far back as three years ago. "She'll be adding some more," says Mrs. Welch, since capes are so graceful to wear and "She can just shed them easily when she enters someplace."

The new First Lady is fashion-wise. Not because she was once in the fashion business, but because 20 years in the public spotlight have made her aware that being comfortable in clothes, being well-dressed and looking well-thought-out makes the business of being constantly photographed that much easier.

'Tender Loving Greed'

If you have the patience to wade through it, Mary Adelaide Mendelson's "Tender Loving Greed" (Knopf) is worth the reading.

Subtitled "How The Incredibly Lucrative Nursing Home 'Industry' Is Exploiting America's Old People and Defrauding Us All," it is the end product of 10 years of "intensive research" on the part of the

Mrs. Mendelson came well-qualified to her work. A member of the Nursing Home Project of the Ohio Department of Health, and the Cleveland Mayor's Commission on Aging, she has been called upon numerous times to testify before, and otherwise assist. Senate and Congressional Committees concerned with the area of nursing home care.

By the author's own admission, "Tender Loving Greed" is not a people-oriented book. She has relatively little to say about the people who make up the population in the 23,000 nursing homes in this country; about the horrors to which they are subjected in some places - horrors which have been uncovered and made public elsewhere.

Rather, she is primarily concerned with the financial and legal manipulations that define what she calls the "nursing home hustle.

The theme of her expose is stated early on. She has, she says, set out to detail a "national scandal in which greedy nursing home operators are getting rich by exploiting helpless patients and extracting huge sums from governments — state and federal — that do not seem to care either about the patients or the taxpayers.'

Although Mrs. Mendelson does state that not all nursing homes are guilty of the "dubious business practices" she has uncovered, she goes on, "Excellent homes are rare, and most of those that are considered good are good only by comparison to the majority that

The list of abuses which, in her opinion, go on every day across the country, is seemingly endless. She cites case after case in which nursing home operators have bilked the government out of millions of dollars in Medicare and Medicaid payments.

She reveals examples of collusion between nursing home operators and pharamicists; nursing home operators and doctors. "Kickbacks" is the word for it. Calling such practices "nickel-and-dime swindles," she estimates that they cost taxpayers and relatives of nursing home patients $800 million a year.

The author has also devoted a section of her book to the big-time operators - the nursing home profiteers, the financial manipulators whose maneuverings have to do with tax dodges and nefarious real estate transactions.

She takes on the "newest form of the nursing home hustle" - the publicly-owned nursing home chains; and she debunks the myth of the "non-profit"

These abuses are allowed to continue, Mrs. Mendelson says, because the regulatory agencies charged with keeping nursing homes in line, have shirked their responsibility; or, even worse, been participants in the graft.

Governors to Hear Airport Report By United Press International The governors of the five member states in the Old West Regional Commission will meet Sept. 24 in Rapid City, S.D., to hear a report on a proposed in-

"They did not present any major roadblocks," he said, adding, "It's going to look pretty good, in my opinion," referring another study if the governors central location of the Old West to the contents of the report.

The report will cover the initial feasibility of the project, but Peralex said even if the governors accept the report and it is favorable in all respects, final decisions would still be in order. "This report will only set the" stage," he said. "There's still a lot of hard work ahead." Among the questions which would still have to be answered, in addition to technical matters. is where such an airport would be located in the five-state region. The states in the region include North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana and Nebraska.

In the preliminary report, Peralex said, "There's no determination as to location. That would have to be covered in

Governors to Hear Airport Report

By United Press International The governors of the five member states in the Old West Regional Commission will meet Sept. 24 in Rapid City, S.D., to hear a report on a proposed international airport.

Rudolph Peralez, state decisions would still be in order. aronautics director, said he attended a meeting earlier this month in Denver, during which consultants discussed a preliminary draft of the report.

Peralex said while there was little he could say about the contents of the draft now — "all we did was go over technical points" - there weren't any major roadblocks to the proposal offered by the consultants at that tion Commission (CCIC) Wednesday approved in concept proposed recommendations made by two committees to improve the delivery of fire and emergency medical services.

While approving the general plans, the CCIC directed the Fire Services-Emergency Medical Services task force and the Citizens Advisory Committe to draw up a common set of recommendations.

The citizens committee had modified the task force report faces an uphill battle if it adopts and came up with its own set of recommendations. Both reports some rural firefighters have of whether to save the 80-yearold Buffalo County Courthouse will be up to the voters in the November election.

Bill Harding and task force chief Don Penterman agreed that their differences were really minor and could be resolved.

Buffalo County Board of Supervisors agreed to let county residents decide whether to turn the facility into a museum after completion of a new county government building.

The action Wednesday ends a two-year effort of the Buffalo County Historical Society and others to save the structure. The Society had collected thousands of signatures on petitions aimed at preserving the courthouse.

If the residents want to save the structure, it will cost them. The question on the ballot is whether the courthouse should be turned into a museum and an annual levy of up to one mill for three years be levied. The Citizens committee member Roger Dodson assured the CCIC that it is not the committee's intent to eliminate volunteer firefighters.

Penterman said he could go along with the district proposal if it were phased in over a period

"It all depends on whether we want a revolution or an evolution," he said.

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis, a CCIC member, observed that no changes could be made overnight, but said the work could be started to merge those districts. The CCIC also directed that

Statisticians Seek Help On Agriculture Reports

By The Associated Press

The Division of Agricultural Statistics will ask some 25,000 Nebraska farmers and ranchers "for their cooperation in preparing some important crop and livestock reports.

The division said questionnaires will be mailed this week seeking information that will be used in the Sept. 11 crop report, the Sept. 13 cattle on feed report, the Sept. 20 hog and pig report, and the annual small grain acreage and production

tor, said "these crop and livestock reports have a great influence on the market, and therefore accuracy and integrity are essential.'

Murfield said that, by law, the reported information is confidential.

The reports will provide figures on corn, sorghum and sovbean production; number of cattle being fattened for slaughter market; hog and pig inventory; farrowing intentions; and the final estimates of acreage and yields of small grains.

Huskers Scheduled For Live Scrimmage

By BOB OWENS Star Sports Editor

The "make or break" moment arrives Thursday morning for the 114 or so players who hope to represent the University of Nebraska on the football field this season.

At 8:30 a.m., the squad will begin practice in full gear after concluding three days of workouts without pads in Memorial Stadium.

Coach Tom Osborne plans only about 35 minutes of various fundamental drills before he will send his players into their first live scrimmage. It'll last only about 25 minutes and it will be what is called a "half-line" scrimmage.

It will be a scrimmage designed to enable the coaching staff to look at defensive tackle and middle guard candidates against the running game. Offensive coaches will be watching in particular the 'Middle guard is the key to our defense," Osborne has said. "If you have 10 good football players on defense and an average nose guard, your defense will be average."

The hope is that a great one will emerge.

There will be a similar look at the Ibacks where wingback Don Westbrook, a senior, will be given a chance to challenge John O'Leary and Jeff Moran for the starting job.

Others on the I-back list are Dave Gillespie, Dale Zabrocki and Chester Talley, all sophomores.

Osborne said the I-back contenders will be narrowed to three for the final two weeks before the Oregon opener so the staff can give concentrated work and repetition to the runners.

Official Denies Olympics Doubt

MONTREAL (UPI) - Willi Daume, vice-president of the International Olympic Committee Wednesday denied he had ever suggested that Montreal might not be able to hold the 1976 summer Games.

"At no time did I doubt Montreal's ability to handle the 1976 games," Daume said. "I never insinuated that the games in Montreal in 1976 were in danger. I said the very opposite."

Daume was the moving force in bringing the 1972 Olympics to Munich, which staged a super Games in terms of stadia and facilities for athletes, officials and press.

Commenting on reports that he had expressed doubt whether Montreal could be ready on time, Daume said "most of them were pure fabrication."

"I have never made such stark statements," he said. Daume is in Montreal on a visit officially authorized by the IOC to check on the progress of work on the 1976 Olympics. Daume said he also intended to use this visit to end the "misinterpretation" of h i s previous statements on the present state of preparations. Asked several times how the misinterpretation arose, Daume said he thought the public relations work in Montreal could be improved. He also suggested that Canadian and European journalists should hold a conference to remove any misunderstan-Daume said the failure to complete the Olympic velodrome in

"Of course, there are problems," Daume said, "And it is not wise to conceal the problems. "But every organizing committee has problems. In Munich,

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)-Every year, the more ardent Oklahoma football fans expect their Sooners to win 'em all. If the Big Eight pundits are right, they may get their wish in 1974.

A year ago, the Sooners entered the grid campaign under trying conditions. They had just been saddled with an NCAA probation because of a recruiting violation; they had a new coach in Barry Switzer and a unproven quarterback in redshirt soph Steve Davis.

Oklahoma met the test, romping to a 10-0-1 record, capturing the Big Eight title and landing the No. 3 ranking in The Associated Press football poll.

Davis rushed for 867 yards, passed for 934 more and became the Big Eight's scoring leader with 107 points. Switzer was named the NCAA's District 6

Evans' homer was his 16th of the year and his third in three nights.

Lou Brock stole his 86th base of the season in the seventh inning when he stole second and chipped in with three hits for the night.

Rusty Staub drove in four runs with a double and sacrifice fly and light-hitting Wayne Garrett collected three singles and two RBIs to lead the Mets over the errorplagued Astros.

Staub, who sat out the first two games of the series with a pulled hamstring. doubled for two runs in the first off loser Tom Griffin, 12-6. Second baseman Tommy Helms' error, the first of Houston's five, allowed Cleon Jones to reach base and score on Staub's hit. Garrett, hitting .213 going into the game, rapped his first single to drive in Staub with the third run of the inning.

Ron Hunt singled home the winning run with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning as the Expos edged San

The Padres were leading 7-6 with one out in the ninth when Jim Northrup singled. Larry Lintz ran for Northrup and Bob Bailey grounded out. Rookie catcher Barry Foote then drove in the tying run with a single to rightfield. Padres' rightfielder Dave Winfield made a bad throw to the plate and Foote went all the way to third base. Pinch-hitter Ken Singleton was walked intentionally and the veteran Hunt slashed a single to shallow leftfield, driving in Foote with the winning run.

Roger Moret, losing his second bid for a no-hitter this season when Dick Allen beat out an infield single with one out in the seventh inning, yielded just that one hit as he pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 4-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday.

Allen's grounder went past Moret and was fielded by Doug Griffin, but the second baseman couldn't make a throw to first base. Moret, 7-5, struck out 12 for a personal and team high for the year. Wilbur Wood, seeking his 19th victory for the third time, took his 15th loss. He went all the way for the Sox and allowed eight

The outstanding effort by Moret was recognized by executive vice president Dick O'Connell, who announced immediately after the game that the 24-yearold Puerto Rican native would receive a new contract with a $1,000 raise

Rookie outfielder Jim Rice had two hits, including a basesloaded single in the eighth inning to drive in Boston's last two

In other games, Texas downed Baltimore 5-1, New York trimmed Cleveland 4-1 and Cleveland nipped Kansas City 7-6, Jeff Burroughs smashed his 25th homer and Jim Bibby, with eighth inning relief help, recorded his 18th victory to help the Rangers defeat the Orioles.

Graig Nettles celebrated his 30th birthday with a run-scoring double and a two-run single and Doc Medich won his 15th game on a six-hitter to lead the Yankees to a victory over the Twins.

Charlie Spikes, who belted a two-run homer in the first inning, singled home Frank Duffy from third with the winning run in the ninth to give the Indians a victory over the Royals.

In West Coast action, Milwaukee was at Oakland and Detroit at California.

The Phillies pulled to within a game and a half of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League East. The defeat dropped the Reds 3 1-2 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West.

Schmidt's homers gave him seven against the Reds this season. Overall he's 16-for-32 with 13 RBIs in nine games against the Reds.

Schmidt's second homer, tying him with Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox for the major league lead, came with a man on in the eighth inning.

In other games Los Angeles beat Chicago 7-5, Pittsburgh downed San Francisco 4-2, Atlanta edged St. Louis 5-4, New York flogged Houston 10-2, and Montreal edged San Diego 8-7.

Switzer Drops Clark

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)-The University of Oklahoma Sooners received another shock Wednesday when coach Barry Switzer announced he was dropping starting fullback Waymon Clark from the team.

"I've released Waymon because of disciplinary reasons," said Switzer. "There comes a time when a coach has to make a decision and again recognize when no one individual is more important than the team's discipline and morale.

"It is unfortunate for Waymon Clark and for the University of Oklahoma football pro-

Official Denies Olympics Doubt

MONTREAL (UPI) - Willi Daume, vice-president of the International Olympic Committee Wednesday denied he had ever suggested that Montreal might not be able to hold the 1976 summer Games.

"At no time did I doubt Montreal's ability to handle the 1976 games," Daume said. "I never insinuated that the games in Montreal in 1976 were in danger. I said the very opposite.'

Daume was the moving force in bringing the 1972 Olympics to Munich, which staged a super Games in terms of stadia and facilities for athletes, officials and press. Commenting on reports that he had expressed doubt whether Montreal could be ready on time, Daume said "most of them were pure fabrication.' "I have never made such stark statements," he said.

Daume is in Montreal on a visit officially authorized by the IOC to check on the progress of work on the 1976 Olympics. Daume said he also intended to use this visit to end the "misinterpretation" of h i s previous statements on the present state of preparations.

Asked several times how the misinterpretation arose, Daume said he thought the public relations work in Montreal could be improved. He also suggested that Canadian and European journalists should hold a conference to remove any misunderstan-

Daume said the failure to complete the Olympic velodrome in time for the 1974 world cycling championships here was "rather a shock." The Velodrome was to have been used for the championships now taking place here, but construction strikes delayed its completion too long to meet deadlines, and the championships were switched to the University of Montreal.

"Of course, there are problems," Daume said. "And it is not wise to conceal the problems.

"But every organizing committee has problems. In Munich, we had many more problems than Montreal has."

"Canada is a big country, a wealthy country," he said. "She will not fail in organizing the Games.'

Season Undefeated klahoma Predicted coach of the year. They are rangy All-American linebacker Rod

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)-Every year, the more ardent Oklahoma football fans expect their Sooners to win 'em all. If the Big Eight pundits are right, they may get their wish in 1974.

A year ago, the Sooners entered the grid campaign under trying conditions. They had just been saddled with an NCAA probation because of a recruiting violation; they had a new coach in Barry Switzer and a unproven quarterback in redshirt soph Steve Davis.

Oklahoma met the test, romping to a 10-0-1 record, capturing the Big Eight title and landing the No. 3 ranking in The Associated Press football

Davis rushed for 887 yards, passed for 934 more and became the Big Eight's scoring leader with 107 points. Switzer was named the NCAA's District 6

This season, an air of confidence, almost serenity, envelops the Sooner training camp

Oklahoma was tabbed as the conference favorite by 238 out of 243 writers in a pre-season poll, primarily because of the return of Davis and nine other offensive starters, counting halfback Grant Burget who was injured in the second game of 1973.

The defense has some question marks, like how well can unsung junior Glen Comeaux fill the void left by All-American middle guard Lucious Sel-

But no one is feeling sorry for Sooner defensive boss Larry Lacewell. Although only five defensive regulars are back, four of them are considered to be exceptional, even by Big Eight standards.

Shoate; All-Big Eight safety Randy Hughes, and tackles Leroy and Dewey Selmon, whose physical qualities are superior to their heralded brother,

If the defense turns out to be above average, as expected, then the Sooners could again capture the league title going away. No one stopped the Oklahoma rushing attack a year ago, not even Southern California which managed a 7-7 tie while giving up 330 yards on the ground.

Halfback Joe Washington is the super star of a balanced wishbone attack which riveted enemy defenses for 453 yards per game in 1973. Switzer calls Washington "the best player with the ball in his hands" in the Big Eight since Johnny Rodgers.

A 175-pound junior from Port Arthur, Tex., Washington flashed for 1,173 yards last season to lead the conference.

Completing the starting backfield will be Burget, a slashing runner who has not yet reached his potential, and a fullback yet to be named. They'll be running ahead of an offensive line Switzer thinks may be the Sooners' best ever.

If opponents somehow manage to slow the Sooner ground machine, Davis can throw to split ends Tinker Owens and Billy Brooks, one of college football's best receiver tandems. Sure-handed Wayne Hoffman also is back at tight end.

Keeping Davis and Washington healthy will be the key to Oklahoma's chances for its first undefeated, untied season since 1956.

Texas appears to be the Sooners' only serious threat outside the conference. They'll be heavily favored against Wake Forest, Utah State and

In the Big Eight, however, the Sooners must play key opponents Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas on the road. It should be noted that Colorado has won three out of its last four meetings with Oklahoma at

The last Colorado victory over the Sooners was a 17-14 upset in October 1972. That also happens to be the last time the Sooners have lost a game on the field. (They forfeited three of their 1972 victories for an official record of 8-4).

Morning Briefing A Roundup of Sports News

Baseball

Ailing Cincinati Reds pitcher Gary Nolan said he had no pain after pitching three innings for Indianapolis against Nolan, who was reassigned recently to the Indianapolis team following a shoulder operation for removal of a bone spur, had seen almost no action for the past two years.

Nolan appeared in only two games in 1973 and 25 in 1972, complaining of arm pain.

Advance ticket sales indicate the Texas Rangers will pass the one million mark in home attendance for the first time in the three-year history of the franchise.

Football

The Washington Redskins have acquired tackle-center Howard Kindig from the Miami Dolphins in exchange for a future, undisclosed draft choice, the team announced.

George Bell, 49, who ranks third among Oregon's all-time rushing leaders, died of an apparent heart attack.

Bell was a teammate at Oregon of Norm Van Brocklin and John McKay, now coaches of the Atlanta Falcons and the Southern California Trojans, respectively.

Kermit Alexander said he believes that his union activity is the reason he is no longer playing for the Philadelphia Eagles.

The St. Louis Cardinals said they have lost defensive tackle Don Wunderly, indefinitely because of two shoulder separations the first-year player suffered in a NFL preseason game.

Joe Namath will start at quarterback for the New York Jets in their exhibition football game against the Cardinals in St.

Atlanta's starting offensive tackle Bill Sandeman, a nineyear veteran, will be out for the season because of a slipped disc. Linebacker Jim Teaear, picked up from Detroit for a draft choice, has been put on waivers by the Los Angeles Rams.

The Denver Broncos have traded rookie running back Jimmie Jones to Detroit for wide receiver Al Barnes. Barnes will play with Denver this season only since he has signed with the World Football League for 1975.

Basketball

The Utah Stars sent hot-shooting guard Johnny Neumann to the Virginia Squires in exchange for center Jim Eakins and

Phil Chenier, 23-year-old guard for the Washington Bullets who has been compared to Jerry West and Walt Frazier, was signed to a seven-year contract for more than $1 million.

Walt Wesley, an eight-year NBA veteran, was placed on waivers by the Washington Bullets.

Kansas City-Omaha King's president and general manager Joe Axelson announced today the signing of M. L. Carr to a oneyear contract. Carr, from Guilford College, N.C., was selected by the Kings in the fifth round during the 1973 draft, but was not signed because of an earlier knee operation that was slow in responding. A recent examination by team physician Dr. Howard Ellfeldt however, has resulted in a clean bill of health for Carr and consequently an opportunity to show his skills.

Other Sports

Tennis' sweethearts, Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert, are the top-seeded singles entries in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, starting Aug. 28 at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Defending champion John Newcombe of Australia was seeded second in the men's singles followed by Stan Smith and the senational young Swede, Bjorn Borg.

In women's singles, Billie Jean King was seeded No. 2. Other seedings were: Olga Morozova, 3; Kerry Melville, 4: Evonne Goolagong, 5; Rosemary Casals, 6; Virginia Wade, 7, Dwight Stones, the world high jump record holder from California, soared 7-5 to win his speciality at an international track and field meet in Olympic Stadium before 20,000 fans in an European meet.

Memphis Blasts Hawaii, 60-8

MEMPHIS (UPI) - John Huarte threw for four first-half touchdowns Wednesday night in leading the Memphis Southmen to a 60-8 slaughter of Hawaii that set a World Football League scoring record. The Southmen scored on Huarte's throws of six and 29 yards to Ed Marshall, 18 to J.J. Jennings and 32 to Roger Wallace. Jennings scored again on a two-yard run and Bob Etter kicked a 29-yard field goal with three seconds left to put Memphis up 39-0 at the half.

The Memphis defense spoiled the homecoming of Hawaii's rookie quarterback, Norris Weese, who played last year at the nearby University of Mississippi.

Have Big 8 Writers Erred?

The mid-summer poll of Big Eight sportswriters and sportscasters picked Kansas State to finish last by a pretty good margin behind seventh place Iowa State. Are the Wildcats going to make them look bad?

Coach Vince Gibson is one who certainly thinks so. "I think we're going to have the best football team we've ever had," he said at the Big Eight's gathering recently in Kansas City. "I think we've got a chance to go to a bowl game." Of course, this is the time of the year for coaches to be optimistic, but Gibson has at least one of the pre-season football magazines agreeing with him. It is Street & Smith's College Football, the oldest and probably the most reliable and up-to-date of such publications. Each year, the magazine goes out on a limb and picks winners and losers of every game. It even calls games "ties" if the teams

Well, Kansas State is picked to have an 8-3 season overail, with losses in conference play to only the 1-2-3 teams -Oklahoma, Nebraska and Missouri, for a 4-3 Big Eight record. Certainly if that happens the Wildcats could be headed for a Street & Smith predictions for the Big Eight: 1. Oklahoma 7-0 (11-0 overall); 2. Nebraska 6-1 (10-1); 3. Missouri 8-2-1 (5-2); 4. Kansas State 4-3 (8-3); 5. Colorado 3-4 (3-8); 6. Kansas 2-5 (5-6-1); 7. Oklahoma State 1-6 (2-8-1); 8. Iowa State 0-7 (0-10-1). Gibson says his veteran quarterback Steve Grogan is a "winning player" who will have a target who has the speed necessary to enable Grogan to throw deep passes. "We haven't had any great outside receivers," Gibson said. That great one he expects this season is Alonzo Wade, a junior college transfer from Macon, Ga. Another is a sophomore tight end, Billy Dixon, who has great size (6-2, 211), and great speed (:09.5 in 100). Catching Up On Sports Roy Taylor, the star basketball player from Anderson, Ind., who was recruited by Nebraska last spring, is planning to attend Vincennes (Ind.) University, a junior college, in an attempt to bring up his grades with an eye toward qualifying for NCAA competition. He still might wind up at Nebraska in a year or so. Jack Alexander, standout long distance swimmer for NU, is a member of the Canadian team that will be competing in the World Games next month in Russia. Alexander, who will be sophomore, will be in the Modern Pentathlon, which consists of fencing, pistol shooting, equestrian, swimming and running. Tickets for the NU-Wisconsin football game Sept. 21 in

Madison still are available through the NU ticket office, according to Jim Pittenger, ticket manager. Oops! The Star's series "Meet The Huskers" started in

Wednesday morning's paper and you might say The Star is 0-1 . . . Defensive end Tom Pate's name was misspelled "Page" . Typographical errors sometimes are embarrassing. Six of Mark Spitz' seven world records set in the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich still stand two years later, but he expects a few to disappear over the next 11 days in the National AAU Long Course meet in Concord, Calif. "If they don't, it will mean men's swimming isn't as good as it should be," he said. "Men's swimming should keep up with the trend."

The Washington Redskins have acquired tackle-center Howard Kindig from the Miami Dolphins in exchange for a future, undisclosed draft choice, the team announced.

George Bell, 49, who ranks third among Oregon's all-time rushing leaders, died of an apparent heart attack

Bell was a teammate at Oregon of Norm Van Brocklin and John McKay, now coaches of the Atlanta Falcons and the Southern California Trojans, respectively.

Kermit Alexander said he believes that his union activity is the reason he is no longer playing for the Philadelphia Eagles. The St. Louis Cardinals said they have lost defensive tackle Don Wunderly, indefinitely because of two shoulder separations the first-year player suffered in a NFL preseason game.

Joe Namath will start at quarterback for the New York Jets in their exhibition football game against the Cardinals in St.

Atlanta's starting offensive tackle Bill Sandeman, a nineyear veteran, will be out for the season because of a slipped disc. Linebacker Jim Teaear, picked up from Detroit for a draft choice, has been put on waivers by the Los Angeles Rams. The Denver Broncos have traded rookie running back Jimmie Jones to Detroit for wide receiver Al Barnes. Barnes will play with Denver this season only since he has signed with the World Football League for 1975.

Basketball

The Utah Stars sent hot-shooting guard Johnny Neumann to the Virginia Squires in exchange for center Jim Eakins and guard Larry Miller.

Phil Chenier, 23-year-old guard for the Washington Bullets who has been compared to Jerry West and Walt Frazier, was signed to a seven-year contract for more than $1 million.

Walt Wesley, an eight-year NBA veteran, was placed on waivers by the Washington Bullets.

Kansas City-Omaha King's president and general manager Joe Axelson announced today the signing of M. L. Carr to a oneyear contract. Carr, from Guilford College, N.C., was selected by the Kings in the fifth round during the 1973 draft, but was not signed because of an earlier knee operation that was slow in responding. A recent examination by team physician Dr. Howard Ellfeldt however, has resulted in a clean bill of health for Carr and consequently an opportunity to show his skills.

Memphis Blasts Hawaii, 60-8

MEMPHIS (UPI) - John Huarte threw for four first-half touchdowns Wednesday night in leading the Memphis Southmen to a 60-8 slaughter of Hawaii that set a World Football League scoring record.

The Southmen scored on Huarte's throws of six and 29 yards to Ed Marshall, 18 to J.J. Jennings and 32 to Roger Wallace. Jennings scored again on a two-yard run and Bob Etter kicked a 29-yard field goal with three seconds left to put Memphis up 39-0 at the half.

The Memphis defense spoiled the homecoming of Hawaii's rookie quarterback, Norris Weese, who played last year at the nearby University of mississippi.

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)-Oklahoma State coach Jim Stanley praised his team at the end of padless football drills Wednesday.

"We've accomplished more in three days without pads than any group I've ever coached has," said Stanley, noting the Cowboys would continue to work three times a day once full uniform drills begin Thursday.

"We've been able to get our younger players closer to the same page the veterans are on," Stanley added. "The players realize how many big holes we have to fill and are giving a little extra to fill those holes.

Stanley said it was premature to brag on anyone before the Cowboys had practiced in pads, but couldn't overlook the improvement in some of the OSU freshmen.

"Terry Miller, Gerald Bain, Daria Butler, Rich Hallacker, Robert James and Skip Taylor have looked real good as have some of our other younger players," Stanley said. "I could go on about a lot of others who have looked good, but I'd rather hold off until we've seen everyone in pads," he added.

He said he was pleased with the team's condition. "We've come a long way with our condition. It's evident these players have done a lot of running this summer.

Have Big 8 Writers Erred?

The mid-summer poll of Big Eight sportswriters and sportscasters picked Kansas State to finish last by a pretty good margin behind seventh place Iowa State. Are the Wildcats going to make them look bad?

Coach Vince Gibson is one who certainly thinks so. "I think we're going to have the best football team we've ever had," he said at the Big Eight's gathering recently in Kansas City. "I think we've got a chance to go to a bowl game."

Of course, this is the time of the year for coaches to be optimistic, but Gibson has at least one of the pre-season football magazines agreeing with him.

It is Street & Smith's College Football, the oldest and probably the most reliable and up-to-date of such publications. Each year, the magazine goes out on a limb and picks winners and losers of every game. It even calls games "ties" if the teams with losses in conference play to only the 1-2-3 teams -Oklahoma, Nebraska and Missouri, for a 4-3 Big Eight record. Certainly if that happens the Wildcats could be headed for a Street & Smith predictions for the Big Eight: 1. Oklahoma

Well, Kansas State is picked to have an 8-3 season overall,

7-0 (11-0 overall); 2. Nebraska 6-1 (10-1); 3. Missouri 8-2-1 (5-2); 4. Kansas State 4-3 (8-3); 5. Colorado 3-4 (3-8); 6. Kansas 2-5 (5-6-1); 7. Oklahoma State 1-6 (2-8-1); 8. Iowa State 0-7 (0-10-1). Gibson says his veteran quarterback Steve Grogan is a "winning player" who will have a target who has the speed necessary to enable Grogan to throw deep passes. We haven't had any great outside receivers," Gibson said. That great one he expects this season is Alonzo Wade, a junior college transfer from Macon, Ga. Another is a sophomore tight end, Billy Dixon, who has great size (6-2, 211), and great speed

Roy Taylor, the star basketball player from Anderson, Ind. who was recruited by Nebraska last spring, is planning to attend Vincennes (Ind.) University, a junior college, in an attempt to bring up his grades with an eye toward qualifying for NCAA competition. He still might wind up at Nebraska in a year or so.

Jack Alexander, standout long distance swimmer for NU, is a member of the Canadian team that will be competing in the World Games next month in Russia. Alexander, who will be sophomore, will be in the Modern Pentathlon, which consists of fencing, pistol shooting, equestrian, swimming and running. Tickets for the NU-Wisconsin football game Sept. 21 in

Madison still are available through the NU ticket office, according to Jim Pittenger, ticket manager. Oops! The Star's series "Meet The Huskers" started in Wednesday morning's paper and you might say The Star is

Six of Mark Spitz' seven world records set in the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich still stand two years later, but he expects a few to disappear over the next 11 days in the National AAU Long Course meet in Concord, Calif. "If they don't, it will mean men's swimming isn't as good as it should be," he said. "Men's swimming should keep up with the trend.'

Frustrated Ryan Loses, Breaks Strikeout Record

ANAHEIM (AP) - Nolan comment "He is faster than in- Tuesday night. Ryan is on the brink of becoming the first pitcher in major league baseball history to strike out more than 300 batters in three consecutive seasons in a ever thought what it'd be like to vear he calls "overall somewhat frustrating."

That may be the understatement of the year in sports. All Nolan has done in recent weeks is lose a no-hitter-and the game—with two outs to go at Chicago; and strike out 19

ter for 11 innings, and lose 1-0. "Both were very frustrating." the California Angels righthander said Wednesday after losing to the Tigers. "But probably Tuesday night was as tough as any defeat I've ever

Detroit used a single, a stolen base and a single to send Ryan down to his 13th defeat against 16 victories this season for the last-place American League West Division club.

Ryan had tied the nine-inning record of 19 strike outs against Boston Aug. 12, and had fanned nine Milwaukee Brewers Aug. 16 and his three-game total of 47 shattered the mark of 41 he had held with Sandy Koufax and Luis Strikeouts are fine, said the 27year-old Alvin, Tex., resident, "but I have to put the defeat out of my mind. All I'm thinking about is my next start, and winning 20 games."

His next start is either Saturday or Sund et New OK. With 288 strikeouts, he could reach 300 his next time out. With probably 10 more starts, he's ahead of the pace that last season saw him establish a major league record of 383, breaking Koufax' record.

Heck, he could strike out 400 batters this season!

Still, the frustration from his won-lost record and 3.15 earned run average lingers with the 6foot-2, 195-pound pitcher who credits the strength of his legs with velocity that has caused strike out 11 batters from the Oakland's Reggie Jackson to sixth through the 10th innings stant coffee."

Ryan's last four defeats have been by scores of 2-1, twice: 32: and 1-0. Yet when asked if he be pitching for a contending club, he said:

"No, I don't believe in daydreaming."

Last year, Ryan won seven complete game starts between Aug. 29 and Sept. 27 to finish 21-16 with an earned run average of Detroit batters, pitch a four-hit- 2.87. He had two no-hitters and least one more.

Thirty-three times in his nearly eight-year major league career, including four full seasons with the New York Mets. he has pitched a four-hitter or winning percentage this year, but it looks like it will be basically the same as last year," said Ryan, who has a history of more effective season endings than beginnings.

Maybe it takes him awhile to develop rhythm, said Ryan, who added that to hit his stride he has to reduce his velocity, conquer his control and keep the ball down.

Besides leading the majors in strikeouts the last two seasons, he has been on top in walks, too. giving up 157 in 1972 when he fanned 329, and 162 last year. He has 151 walks this season in 257 innings pitched.

Meanwhile, the question of just how fast Lynn Nolan Ryan Jr. throws a baseball may be answered. The Angels plan to allow a company to utilize an infra-red radar device to guage his pitches. It will take place Sept. 6 or 7 at Anaheim, depending on when Ryan pitches this weekend at New York.

The fastest pitch ever recorded was 98.6 miles per hour by Bob Feller in 1946. Ryan used only 69 pitches to

Americans Nip Sharks, 15-14

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) Running back Charlie Harraway scored on a two-yard plunge with 19 seconds left to play Wednesday night to give the Birmingham Americans, now undefeated in seven games this season, a 15-14 World Football League victory over the Jacksonville Sharks.

Backup quarterback Matthew Reed ran for the go-ahead action point after Harraway's plunge capped a 47-yard drive to tie the game.

Jacksonville, 2-5, had grabbed a 14-7 lead on a five-yard scoring run by running back Tommy Durrance with 1:09 left. The Sharks looked like certain winners on Durrance's score, which was set up on a 47-yard pass completion from rookie quarterback Reggie Oliver to tight end Tom Whittier.

Professional, Lay Groups Plan Mental Health Study

Frailties and strengths in mental health treatment for adolescents in Lancaster County will be assessed in a study by professional and lay committees.

The professional committee Wednesday set a January, 1975, deadline on the study, preparation for a possible grant application to the federal Health, Education and Welfare Depart-

The committee, created June 10, includes representatives from the Child Guidance Center, Youth Service System, Nebraska Committee on Children and Youth, Lancaster County Juvenile Court, Lincoln-

The lay committee, to assemble next week, is to include children and adults.

Dr. Charles Richardson, director of L-LMH, said officials in the regional HEW office in Kansas City, Mo., "have consistently encouraged us to think about a grant (for children's programs)." The committee decided to include in the January study information on past mental health studies, existing services and their effectiveness, and assessment by professionals on needs in Lancaster County.

Traffic Records Bureau Chief, 'Mr. Safety,' Dies

Tom Ryan, head of the Traffic Records Bureau for the Nebraska Department of Roads since 1959, died Wednesday after suffering an apparent heart attack. He was 61.

Ryan was stricken at St. Elizabeth Community Health Center, where he had gone to visit his wife, Dorothy, according to Merle Reiling, deputy administrator for the Roads Department.

Mrs. Ryan was hospitalized about two weeks ago from injuries she sustained when struck by a car in front of the State Capitol. Reiling said Ryan had been visiting her every morning before going to work.

Ryan suffered the apparent attack at about 10 a.m. Reiling Reiling described Ryan as "an outstanding employe who was dedicated to his job. He was Mr. Safety."

Pressure Returns

Downward

New York (AP) - The stock market took another solid trouncing Wednesday as the sharp downward pressure which had let up briefly Tuesday resumed in full force.

By one measure - the broadbased New York Stock Exchange composite index the market finished the session uncomfortably close to a nineyear low.

Brokers said the continued selling represented not so much any reaction to any fresh news development but rather the steady feeding out of stock by institutional investors unhappy over inflation and the prospects for the economy in general. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials tumbled 15.26 to 711.59, its lowest close since Aug. 17, 1970. The NYSE composite, made up of all the Big Board's listed common stocks, was off .73 to 38.59, its lowest finish since May 26, 1970. On that date, the index, which was inaugurated in its present form in 1965, hit a record low of Losers overwhelmed gainers 976 to 341 among the 1,722 issues traded on the NYSE in a turnover of 11.65 million shares. Some negative economic news crossed news tickers, including reports of some new upward moves in short-term interest

But brokers said the session was characterized more clearly by the same pattern that has marked trading for most of the past two weeks - bearish insitutional investors moving slowly and sometimes painfully to reduce their holdings in a market with scarce buying interest to support it.

"It's the highest-class stocks that are getting hit hard now, from Avon to Zenith, from Burroughs to Xerox," said Heinz H. Biel at Hoppin, Watson Inc. Polaroid, continuing its diz-zying slide from a high of 141/2 only about a year and a half ago. fell 4 to 181/2 as the most active stock on the Big Board. The company issued statements twice during the day, saying it could not account for the pressure on the stock. But analysts said it was being hit by concern over layoffs which the company had announced previously and which it said it began Tuesday.

In addition, they said, some selling appeared to have been prompted by an article on the stock's prospects in New York Magazine.

Whatever the reasons, Polaroid was hardly alone among the fallen stars. General Motors, the world's biggest industrial corporation, fell % to 39%, sinking below 40 for the first time since the late 1950s.

IBM crumbled 7¾ to 192; Digital Equipment 51/4 to 76%; Eastman Kodak 434 to 79; and Halliburton 934 to 11034. American Telephone & Telegraph, the nation's most widely held stock, managed to resist the trend with a 1/2-point advance to 42%. The company raised its quarterly dividend from 77 to 85 cents a share. On the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was Wynn's Interational, down ¾ to 6%.

The Amex market value index fell .69 to 73.69. In the over-the-Counter market, the NASDAQ composite index closed at 64.92, down .80.

Coming Siberian Industry Growth To Affect Japan

Tokyo (AP) - The development of Siberia will have a tremendous impact on Japan's industrial structure, members of a Japan Socialist party - JSP delegation said, after returning from a nine-day visit to the Soviet-Union.

The delegation, led by Minoru Kihara, a member of the lower house of Parliament, said the Soviet Union was stepping up its development of Siberia rapidly.

Cattle Prices Are Steady

Omaha (AP) - Slaughter cattle were generally steady on the Omaha livestock market Wednesday, but there were a few variations on the theme.

Steers were only moderately active, and the best demand was for properly fed animals. Plainer and short-fed offerings were hard to move.

Heifers provided a little more activity, getting a fully steady call. Cows were firm.

$47.75-$48.00, with choice bulking from $46.00-$47.50. Butcher hogs also drew a steady call, but trading

The butcher top was $39.25, Sows were also steady, 300-600

Slaughter lambs dropped $2.00 as rail trade came to a complete standstill late Tuesday.

Lincoln Is Stop On Democratic Campaign Tour

Lincoln will be one of three Nebraska stops on a Democratic whistle-stop tour of the nation tentatively scheduled for October, the Democratic National Committee announced Wednesday.

The tour will start at the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia Oct. 1, ending eight days later on the West Coast. Omaha and Hastings also have been scheduled as stops. All three Nebraska stops are planned for Oct. 6.

It is not yet known which Democratic leaders will be on the tour, but party officials said Democratic senators who are not seeking re-election this year will be invited to participate.

The tour is aimed at giving local Democratic candidates support from national party

Downward Pressure Returns

New York (AP) — The stock market took another solid trouncing Wednesday as the sharp downward pressure which had let up briefly Tuesday resumed in full force.

By one measure — the broadbased New York Stock Exchange composite index the market finished the session uncomfortably close to a nine-

Brokers said the continued selling represented not so much any reaction to any fresh news development but rather the steady feeding out of stock by institutional investors unhappy over inflation and the prospects for the economy in general.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials tumbled 15.26 to 711.59, its lowest close since Aug. 17, 1970.

The NYSE composite, made up of all the Big Board's listed common stocks, was off .73 to 38.59, its lowest finish since May

On that date, the index, which was inaugurated in its present form in 1965, hit a record low of Losers overwhelmed gainers 976 to 341 among the 1,722 issues traded on the NYSE in a turnover of 11.65 million shares.

Some negative economic news crossed news tickers, including reports of some new upward moves in short-term interest

But brokers said the session was characterized more clearly by the same pattern that has marked trading for most of the past two weeks - bearish insitutional investors moving slowly and sometimes painfully to reduce their holdings in a market with scarce buying interest to support it.

"It's the highest-class stocks that are getting hit hard now, from Avon to Zenith, from Burroughs to Xerox," said Heinz H. Biel at Hoppin, Watson Inc. Polaroid, continuing its dizzying slide from a high of 141/2 fell 4 to 181/2 as the most active stock on the Big Board. The company issued statements twice during the day, The state had been fighting saying it could not account for only about a year and a half ago,

But analysts said it was being hit by concern over layoffs which the company had announced previously and which it said it began Tuesday.

In addition, they said, some selling appeared to have been prompted by an article on the stock's prospects in New York Magazine.

Whatever the reasons, Polaroid was hardly alone among the fallen stars. General Motors, the world's biggest industrial corporation, fell 7/8 to 395/8, sinking below 40 for the first time since the late 1950s.

IBM crumbled 73/4 to 192; Digital Equipment 51/4 to 763/4; Eastman Kodak 43/4 to 79; and Halliburton 93/4 to 1103/4.

American Telephone & Telegraph, the nation's most widely held stock, managed to resist the trend with a 1/2-point advance to 423/4. The company raised its quarterly dividend from 77 to 85 cents a share.

On the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was Wynn's Interational, down 3/4 to 65/8.

The Amex market value index fell .69 to 73.69. In the over-the-Counter market, the NASDAQ composite index closed at 64.92, down .80.

Cattle Prices Are Steady

Omaha (AP) - Slaughter cattle were generally steady on the Omaha livestock market Wednesday, but there were a few variations on the theme.

Steers were only moderately active, and the best demand was for properly fed animals. Plainer and short-fed offerings were hard to move.

Heifers provided a little more activity, getting a fully steady call. Cows were firm.

Well finished steers turned $47.75-$48.00, with choice bulking from $46.00-$47.50.

The first two Wounded Knee defendants to be tried in Lincoln were Gregorio Jaramillo and Michael Sturdevant, who were charged with impeding or attempting to impede officers during a civil disorder by sneaking ammunition into Wounded Knee.

The three persons scheduled for the trial to begin next Monday are Roger Iron Cloud, Wallace Little, Jr. and Beau Little. All three are charged under the civil disorder statute as well as with assaulting a federal ofrustling to the illegal possession a fire bomb.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
